BERNHARDT LIES IN FLOWER BED IN LAST SLEEP

Great Actress Said to Look Strangely Youthful as She Lies Dead

STATE FUNERAL WAS SUGGESTED

Divine Sara is to Be Laid to Rest In Family Tomb in Pere le Chaise

(Associated Press)

PARIS, March 27.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt, her face looking strangely youthful in death, lay in state today in the bedroom of her home where she died last night, while hundreds of friends and admirers passed reverently by, many weeping, some dropping to their knees beside her and others placing flowers about her as their last remembrance.

The suggestion of Madame Bernhardt's friends that she be given a State funeral, was not taken up by the government at today's cabinet meeting as it was explained there was no precedent for such a ceremony for any except noted public governmental personages.

The funeral has been set for Thursday afternoon from the church of St. Francois de Sales, whose cure is Abbe Loutil, Bernhardt's close friend. She will be buried in the family tomb in the cemetery Pere la Chaise, where many great French me and women sleep.

In compliance with her wishes the funeral will be simple as she expressed a desire that there be a great many flowers, but no funeral orations.

The "Divine Sarah" lies in the bed where she died, her head slightly propped by a pillow and with a coverlet drawn up so as to cover the arms. She is clothed in white satin with a white tulle veil over her throat, close to the chin.

Her bed is like a great basket of red roses and white lilies and overflowing the bed on the floor and through the room into the hallways is an ever inceasing mass of flowers, showing how well her friends remember her passion for them.

Bernhardt lies in the bed so that she faces a portrait of herself at the age of twenty-five. Her face is peaceful and the lips, hardly closed, seem as if about to speak. Twenty or thirty people are always passing through the room.

Good Attendance Upon the Morning News Baking School

ATENDANCE LARGE TUESDAY SESSION

Much Interest Manifested in the Series of Talks on Cooking

This is Lee Family Recipe Day at The Morning News Baking School and Mrs. Charlotte Richmond Jacobs; former assistant to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, will give to those who attend this afternoon at 2 o'clock the famous recipes given her by a grand-niece of General Robert E. Lee. These are true old Southern formulas, that have been used with success for generations.

The attendance yesterday afternoon showed a marked increase over the day before, as every one of the 200 seats was taken and many more stood up during the entire lecture. Mrs. S. L. Austin, director of the home economics department of the high school came with a class of about 50 students for a part of the time, for either the first or latter part of the demonstrations. Many ladies from various points in the county were among those in attendance, in spite of the rainy weather.

A feature was the serving of Mrs. Jacobs' delicious angel food cake, for which the recipe is found elsewhere in The Morning News, with hot Maxwell House coffee, Mrs. J. W. Hixon demonstrating the latter.

As the ladeis passed out the door Mrs. C. L. Murrie distributed samples of the crisp, appetizing Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes, which were eagerly accepted.

Pamphlets containing many recipes for delicious things made from Pillbury's Best Flour and other products were offered by Hugh Brewster, representative of the Pillsbury company.

The ladies took a great interest in every recipe, and were very careful to take down each step, particularly those in the concoction of angel food cake, which is a favorite in Paris.

They crowded about Mrs. Jacobs after the lecture, and plied her with questions of all sorts about the fine points of cake-baking, and she answered all of them concisely and simply.

A regular informal reception was held after the meeting, while the ladies drank the delicious Maxwell House coffee with Velvet cream, and talked over the many topics of the afternoon. There can never be unbroken ice when cooks and housekeepers get together, fo reach wishes to profit by the experience of the other and to pass on the good things she has found out for herself.

The respective merits of methods, mixtures and ingredients were discussed, and in the course of Mrs. Jacobs' explanations and demonstration, many suggestions were offered and listened to by a judicial audience—and most of them were approved as real helps to the housewife.

One lady offered a recipe for a seven-minute icing, in which a cup of sugar, 3 tablespoons of water and the unbeaten white of an egg were put in the upper part of a double boiler, the lower part being filled with boiling water. This should be beaten continuously for about 7 minutes with a dover whip. It makes, she said, an icing which forms a smooth, hard crust, but under the surface is soft and moist.

Another gave her custom of adding a cup of grated cocoanut to her angel food cake to help it retain moisture.

The merits of brandy vs. grape juice were discussed, Mrs. Jacobs, while declaring her stand on prohibition, saying that she had never found anything to substitute for brandy in keeping fruit cake soft and fresh; all alcoholic properties are lost in the baking, and only the preservative essentials remain.

The pastry tube, she declared, is not at all the difficult thing it seems, and a decorated cake is easily made with the use of a home-made pastry bag and paper cornucopias, the small end cut straight across for making petals, or in an M-shape for leaves. These are two of the simplest forms used.

In her demonstrations Mrs. Jacobs is using the Alaska Refrigerator, with its superb system of insulation and circulation, cubed cork walls, and porcelain finish, which saves both food and ice. She finds the McDougall kitchen cabinet a most comforting and satisfactory article of kitchen furniture, for it is well built, with rust-proof hardware, which makes its cleaning easy ant-proof caster-cups ample flour bin and a score of other fittings that must be used to be thoroughly appreciated. These, and the neat white table (as well as the Edison phonograph which furnished music during the "tea party" yesterday afternoon, are all from the Rodgers-Wade Furniture company.

The National gas and coal range proved itself an ideal baking medium yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Jacobs took out of its oven the fluffy, feathery angel-food cake, and its duplex fuel feature is irresistible to the woman who has had to fight a shortage of supply.

The beautiful Mirro Aluminum ware from Crook-Record company appealed to the pride and desire of every housewife present, for each could see the actual improvement in the appearance of her kitchen if these utensils were there, besides the years of service she would have from the beautiful, sturdily fashioned pots and pans.

Pillsbury's Best Flour is being used with real success in Mrs. Jacobs' demonstrations, and makes wonderful cakes, biscuits, pies and other pastry, and bread that fairly melts in the mouth.

Calumet Baking Powder, tested in hundreds of ways, is being proven and its efficacy and desirability shown in Mrs. Jacobs' recipes.

Snowdrift, which needs the addition of only a bit of salt to make it as tasty as butter, is the rich creamy shortening used in The Morning News Baking School and is recommending itself to every housewife present.

Delicious, fruity-flavored Sunmaid Raisins, now packed in cans are another feature of the demonstrations this week, and these can be combined with any number of delectable recipes.

Bre'r Rabbit Syrup is proving its dozens of uses in Mrs. Jacobs' demonstrations, and is found delightful on waffles or hot cakes, in cakes and cookies and for various other toothsome dishes.

Velvet butter and other milk products are being most successfully used in The Morning News Baking School, and the ream cream in the Maxwell House coffee yesterday was a real treat.

Charlotte Richmond Jacobs says

A good cake icing does not "run."

Oleomargarine has the same amount of butter fat and flavor in cooking.

Confectioners use a dense sweet icing for their cakes and cover it when dry with a "pour" icing before decorating.

A wonderful fireless cooker can be made out of a 50 pound coffee can at a nominal cost.

Rubbed with brown sugar, stuck with cloves and basted with vinegar a baked ham is delicious.

Never open the oven door unnecessarily, especially on a cake, which is made with egg whites, as the air in the mixture will escape and the cake falls.

Cake Recipes Which Were Demonstrated by Mrs Jacobs

These proven recipes were given yesterday to the interested audience at the Morning News Baking School by Mrs. Charlotte Richmond Jacobs, who demonstrated the angel food cake.

Angel Food Cake

1 scant cup flour.
1-4 cup sugar.
1 level teaspoon cream of tartar.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1 1-4 cup egg whites.
1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract.
1-2 teaspoon orange extract.

The essential points in combining the ingredients is the thorough sifting of the flour, its folding in, not beating or stirring at the very last and not beating the eggs to a stiff froth. Adding the sugar and the flour expels much of the air from the eggs and if they are beaten stiff, they have no moisture to retain the air.

Bake sixty minutes at a temperature of 350 degrees Fahrenheit. To test the oven, place a piece of notepaper or a spoonful of flour in the oven. If it is brown in five minutes the temperature is correct. At five minutes to the hour, look at the cake to see if it is brown enough.

Savannah White Fruit Cake

1 lb. butter.
1 dozen eggs.
1 lbl citron.
1 lb. pulvarized sugar.
1 lb. crystalized cherries.
1-2 lb. crystallized pineapple.
1-2 lb. blanched almonds.
1-2 lb. shelled walnuts.
1 good sized cocoanut, grated.
1 tablespoon nutmeg.
1 small cup brandy or grapejuice.

Prepare butter, sugar, and flour as for pound cake and cut up the fruit and chop the nut, mix well. Fold in the beaten whites the last thing.

Dense Icing

For a dense icing, use only one egg to the ingredients given for a fluffy icing and use the same process.

Sunshine Cake

Whites of 7 eggs.
Yolks of 5 eggs, beaten lightly.
1 cup granulated sugar.
3-4 cup flour, after sifting.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon cream of tartar.
2 teaspoons of orange juice or 1-2 teaspoon of orange or vanilla flavoring.

The same method is used for this as for Angel Food Cake.

Dark Fruit Cake

1 lb. Velvet butter.
1 lb brown sugar.
1 lb. flour.
3 lbs Sunmaid Raisins.
3 lbs. Currants.
1 lb. citron.
1 lb. chopped almonds.
12 eggs.
1 cup Bre'r Rabbit Syrup or black molasses
1 tablespoon cinnamon.
1 tablespoon cloves.
1 tablespoon all spice.
1 level tablespoon Calumet Baking Powder.

Bake four hours with two papers in the bottom of the pan to prevent burning and strip off while hot.

Florida Grange Cake

Whites of 3 eggs folded in last.
Yolks of five eggs
2 cups sugar.
1-2 cup Velvet butter.
1-2 cup orange juice.
2 1-2 cups Pillsbury's fluor.
1 tablespoon Calumet Baking flour.

Fluffy Icing

1 cup sugar.
1-2 cup of cold water.
1-16 teaspoon of cream of tartar
Whites of two eggs.

Put sugar, water and cream of tartar together in a pan to boil at 244 degrees F at first with a top to keep the moisture in and prevent crystalization. When the syrup drops from the thread, pour over the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and beat until thick and creamy using a Dover whip

Program for Reds Made In Moscow

Startling Testimony was Given in the Trial of Foster, Charged with Criminal Syndicalism by Wisconsin

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 27.—Activites of the communist party of America were outlined and approved in Moscow months in advance and the national convention of the party held in the lonely dunes near here last August was postponed by cable orders from Russia to await arrival of delegates from Moscow, according to documents introduced by the State today in the trial of William Z. Foster, charged with criminal syndicalism.

Questioning Charles E. Ruthenberg, first witness for the defense, prosecutor Charles Gore, on cross examination brought out some papers seized in the raid on the convention that the question of inviting Foster to the meeting had been voted on a month in advance by the executive committee.

The State produced the minutes of a meeting of the executive committee held July 26 and 27 to attac Ruthenberg's testimony on direct examination that the question of having Foster at the convention had not been passed on until the committe met at Bridgman, about August 17.

Among the demands on the government suggested, "merely as examples for illustrations," the statement said, and not to be concretely regarded even as advised by the "cometern" (a Russian code word, meaning communist international) were a constitutional amendment forbidding such laws as the Kansas industrial court act.

Abolishment of injunctions "against workers for activities towards raising the rate of wage or reducing the hours of labor."

Disarming of all private detectives in strike regions or elsewhere and the organization of armed bodies.

That no procedure of the law, criminal or otherwise, shall be allowed forcibly to detain any regularly elected labor union official from his union duties during the progress of a labor dispute.

Constitutional amendments forbidding the use of military or naval forces in any mater connected with a labor dispute.

Legan provisions that labor unions on strike could nominate their own members to preserve order.

Rev J T Ogle Was Preacher At the Pre-Easter Revival

A large congregation was again present for the second of the series of pre-Easter revival sermons which are being held each morning from 10 o'clock to 10:45 at the Grand Theatre.

There are great evangelistic serby able speakers and much inmons being delivered each day, by able speakers, and much interest is being manifested by the general public, many, who would not otherwise have the opportunity of attending, are present to take part in these services.

One of the features of the meeting is the congregational singing, which is in charge of J. Arthur Bryant, former evangelist singer and experienced chorur leader.

The service on Tuesday morning was conducted by the Rev. J. T. Ogle, the evangelist, who preceding the sermon expresed words of pleasure at being again in this city and being associated with the people with whom he had been so pleasantly acquainted with in past years.

Rev. Ogle's sermon followed up the one on Monday by Dr. Burma, his theme being on the parting message of Jesus to his diciples. This message is not obselete now at the present day, but is new now as it will be throughout the ages to come.

Text from verses 15 and 16, of the last chapter of Mark, which was the parting message of Jesus Christ to his diciiples—"And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation." Jesus Christ is placing upon the hearts of practically illiterate men this great commission, sending these men out with a message to every nation, to all generations, and throughout the centuries until the final trump shall sound, adding "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that disbelieveth shall be condemned." Go ye therefore and teach all the nations and the individual the story of infinite love. This i sthe parting message of the divine Lord, who died on calvary.

Your attention is calld to the sublime statement regarding "He that believeth and is baptized." All men, who by regeneration turn from sin unto the service of the living God, consecrating lives to God's srvice, Jesus Christ said, through the ages to come shall be saved.

The very last message that He gave was in keeping with the introduction of John the Baptist. To save from sin is the one supreme work of the nations and the individual. There is no individual who has not been saved from sin, but what stands in eminent need of such salvation.

There are closed chapters in the life of every man and woman, that the individual that the individual would not have opened for any consideration.

There is a darkness which shuts out all peace; by the darkness the star which should shine in beauty above him is dimmed; it projects its darkness in the future of hope that should guide mankind in his journey towards eternity. This is a condition of every man and woman out of Christ. Jesus Christ said, "accept me in your life and all let us do His will. His bidding, because of what He did for us. Not for reward, even though we will be rewarded, but it is our business to serve God because we love Him and because He first loved us. God sees not our weakness, helplessness, and errors but he sees us through His Son, our Redeemer, who is our life.

Harding Orders An Inquiry Into Tariff and Sugar Price

(Associated Press)

SAN AUGUSTINE, March 27.—Investigation by the United States traffic commission into the relations of the tariff rates on sugar to prevent increased sugar prices was ordered today by President Harding.

The inquiry was requested by the president in the following telegram to Thomas O. Marvin, chairman of the tariff commission. "Make any immediate inquiry into the relation of the sugar tariff to the current pirce sof the commodity. It is difficult to believe that the duty on sugar can have any part in making the abnormal prices which prevail, but if the commission finds there is any ground for believing the duty to be even partially responsible I shall be ready to proclaim a reduction in the duties on sugar as provided by law."

The presidential order, it was explained will result i nenlisting another official agency in the government's endeavor to ascertain the responsibility for the increase in sugar prices, starting early in February.

When sugar was selling at 5 and 6 cents a pound, retail, as compared with present quotations running as high as 12 cents, the president was represented as unconvinced that the present Fordney-McCumber tariff rates of 1.76 a pound on Cuban raw and 2.20 on other sugars was to blame for the increased prices, which Senator Ladd, republican, North Dakota, in a statement issued a few days ago said were costing the American people at the rate of $90,000,000, annually for every cent advance.

SPILLWAY CLOSED AT NEW RESERVOIR

It is Now Ready to Catch and Impound the First Rainfall That Comes

All of the water that now comes into the new reservoir will come in to stay. The spillway was sealed Tuesday under the supervision of City Engineer M. C. Welborn. A little culvert had been left under the bottom of the spillway while work was in progress on the dam to prevent an accumulation of water, and it was an easy matter to seal the spillway by filling the small culvert with concrete.

The whole face of the dam has been concreted up to the level of the spillway, the work having been completed at the same time that the spillway was sealed up.

The paving on the face of the dam will be carried to the top of the earthwork. It will require about two weeks to complete that work. Everything has been cleared out of the bed of the lake from the dam a distance of two miles up. The corn and cotton stalks have been raked and burned and nothing has been left.

With a few heavy rains the lake is expected to make a pretty good catch of water, but on account of the area to be covered it will take some time to make a very big showing.

INDUSTRIES ARE VERY ACTIVE NOW

Federal Reserve Statement as to Business Conditions Is Encouraging

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 27.—Business conditions in March thus far give reasons to believe there will be no slackening in activity in the immediate future according to a survey of conditions made public tonight by the Federal Reserve board. The height of rate of production and increases of freight traffic and employment with the large volume of wholesale and retail sales warrant the assumption, the statement said, that the business activity will be maintained.

A number of industries have allotted increases in wages in offsetting shortage of skilled labor, the survey showed. Shortage of women workers has been reported in textile, rubber and garment industries with th eneed for skilled labor great in many industrial centers.

Recent increases in industrial and comercial activities have been reflected in a large volume of loans made by banks which are members of the reserve system.

THE CHRISTIAN'S MISSION: Preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give.—Matthew 10: 7-8.

CLEANUP

Paris is naturally one of the cleanest cities in the State. Its location is such that it is easily to be kept clean—if the householders will only give a small bit of assistance.

Annual "cleanup" day is to come Thursday; and very strenuous effort should be made to have such a cleaning up as the town has not had for the past year. That is a long time in which to accumulate rubbish and there is small doubt that many of the backyards and some of those front yards as well—will be the better for the cleaning.

Full advantage should be taken of the opportunity in this concerted effort to have the city really clean.

McAdoo's Candidacy.

Three years ago McAdoo didn't want the democratic nomination for the presidency. He wished—and secured—the advertising; and then he stepped aside and let Jimmy Cox of Ohio be the shock-absorber and believe us, it was some shock.

Now McAdoo does want the nomination. He is most desirous of it and his campaign is proceeding apace—though there are obstacles in the path and there isn't so much enthusiasm as there was in other days.

McAdoo, it must be recalled, is the member of the Wilson administration who handled the rail road situation during the war—and we can recall most vividly that he surrendered to every demand made (and they were numerous) by the rail unions for more money and less work; for a smaller service to the public and a larger one to themselves; and we can readily recall—at least those of us who traveled much during that time—the haughty manner in which we were treated by the trainmen. In fact, we have hardly recovered yet from some of it.

Nor have the railroads recovered from the effect of the McAdoo administration and some of them never will.

McAdoo may be the right man for the nomination; but his record has some spots in it which are not likely to commend it to the forward-looking democrats who believe that the country is weary of the republican administration and its many errors and blunders and its high taxation record.

Vendetta begins between

MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and

SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid,

JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. While Sir Norman is living at his country house, Greyes Manor, he narrowly escapes death in several suspicious "accidents," and is convinced that his enemy is again in England.

The police appeal to Greyes to help run to earth a criminal working at the head of a dangerous gang. On his way to London, Greyes' car is stopped and he is shot through the shoulder. Janet receives two hundred pounds in bank notes from a mysterious source.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Janet Continues

At five minutes to one, however, even this condition was amended. A youth from the hall-porter's office put a package into my hand which had just been left by a messenger. I opened it and found half a dozen familiar morocco cases. A portion of the jewelry, which I had never thought to see again, was in my hands. It was now clear to me that my husband had either already returned or was on the point of doing so, and that my help was needed. Nevertheless three days went by without a sign or message from anybody, three days during which I lived after the fashion of a cat, curled up in warmth and luxury, clinging to the feel of my clothes, reveling in the perfumes of my bath, eating good food and drinking wine with slow but careful appreciation. I felt the life revive in me, the blood flow once more through my veins. During those three days nothing in this world would have driven me back to my poverty. I would have committed almost any crime rather than return to it.

• • •

ON the fourth day I met Norman Greyes. I was leaving a hairdresser's in Curzon Street when he rounded the corner of Clarges Street, carrying a bag of golf-clubs and evidently looking for a taxicab. I was within a foot or two of him before he recognized me. I was conscious of a keen and peculiar thrill of pleasure as I saw something flash into his stern, unimpressive face. Enemies though we were, he was glad to see me.

"Good morning, Sir Norman," I said, holding out my hand. "Are there no more criminals left in the world, that you take holiday?"

He smiled, and put his clubs through the open window of a taxicab which had just drawn up by the side of the curb.

"I am tired of hunting criminals," he confessed. "Besides, they are turning the tables. They are hunting me."

"Indeed?" I answered. "That sounds as though my husband were coming back."

"There are rumors of it," he admitted. "Are you staying near here?"

"I am living at the Albemarle Court," I told him. "Why not have me watched? If he does come back, I am sure I am one of the first people he would want to visit."

"It is a wonderful idea," he agreed, with a peculiar gleam in his keen gray eyes. "I would rather bribe you, though, to give him up."

"How much?" I asked. "He has treated me very bady lately."

"Dine with me tonight," he suggested, "and we will discuss it."

"I shall be charmed," I assented boldly.

"At my rooms," he suggested, "—Number Thirteen. About eight o'clock?"

"Why not a restaurant?" I asked.

"Out of consideration for you," he replied promptly. "You are probably more or less watched, and your movements reported to the organization of which your husband is the chief. If you are seen dining alone with me in a public place, they may imagine that you have come over to the enemy."

"You are most thoughtful," I replied, with all the sarcasm in my tone which I could command. "I will come to your rooms, then."

• • •

HE nodded pleasantly, raised his cap and stepped into the taxicab. I watched him a moment, hating him because he seemed the one person who had the power to ruffle me. He was dressed just as I like to see men dressed, in gray tweed, loose but well-fitting. He wore a soft collar, and the tie of a famous cricket club. His tweed cap was set just at the right angle. He moved with the light ease of an athlete. I hated his shrewd, kindly smile, the clearness of his bronzed complexion, the little humorous lines about his eyes. I went straight back to my rooms and wrote him a few impulsive lines. I wrote to say that I would dine with him at any restaurant he liked, but not in Clarges Street, and that he could call for me at eight o'clock.

"GOOD MORNING, SIR NORMAN," I SAID, HOLDING OUT MY HAND. "ARE THERE NO MORE CRIMINALS LEFT?"

At half-past three that afternoon I received the invitation which I had been expecting, and at four o'clock I stepped out of a taxicab and entered the offices of a firm of solicitors situated in a quiet square near Lincoln's Inn. An office-boy rose up from behind a worm-eaten desk and invited me to seat myself on a hard wooden chair while he disappeared in search of Mr. Younghusband, the principal partner in the firm. The office was decorated by rows of musty files, and a line of bills containing particulars of property sales, the solicitor in each case being the firm of Younghusband, Nicholson and Younghusband. After a few minutes' delay, the boy summoned me and held open a door on the other side of the passage.

"Mr. Younghusband will see you, madam," he announced.

The door was closed behind me, and I shook hands with a tall, elderly man who rose to welcome me in somewhat abstracted fashion. He was untidily but professionally dressed. He wore old-fashioned steel-rimmed spectacles, reposing at the present moment on his forehead. The shape of his collar and the fashion of his tie belonged to a bygone generation. There were rows of tin boxes extending to the ceiling, a library of law-books, and his table was littered with papers.

"Mrs.—er—Morrison?" he began, using the name by which I had been known during the last few months.

"That is more or less my name," I admitted. "I received a telephone message asking me to call this afternoon."

"Quite so, quite so," he murmured a little vaguely. "Now let me see," he went on, looking among some papers. "Your husband appears to have been a client of the firm for many years, but my memory—oh, here we are," he broke off, drawing a slip of paper toward him. "My instructions, cabled from New York, were to hand you the sum of two hundred pounds. You received that amount, I believe?"

"I received it and have spent the greater part of it," I replied.

His expression became a little less benign.

"Dear me!" he exclaimed. "That sounds rather extravagant."

He scratched his upper lip thoughtfully.

"Your husband has, I gather, been engaged in operations in New York of a delicate nature. The world of finance has always its secrecies. He appears now, however, to have brought his operations to a close. You are aware, perhaps, that he has landed in England?"

My heart gave a little jump. I could not tell whether the sensation I experienced had more in it of joy or of fear.

"Is he safe?" I asked.

"Safe?" Mr. Younghusband repeated a little vaguely. "Why not?"

There was a moment's silence. I looked around at the shabby but imposing contents of the office, at the lawyer's mildly puzzled expression. I drank in the whole atmosphere of the place, and I was dumb. Mr. Younghusband suddenly smiled, and tapped with his forefinger upon the table. He was like a man who has suddenly seen through a faulty phrase in some legal document.

"I apprehend you," he said. "For a moment I was not altogether able to appreciate the significance of your question. New York is a curious place, and I understand—er—that the financial operations in which your husband has been concerned, although profitable, may have made him enemies. He traveled back to England, indeed, under an assumed name. Let me see—I have it somewhere," he went on, fumbling once more among a mass of papers. "I had it in my hand only a few minuates ago. . . . Here we are—Mr. Richard Peters. I am instructed to say, madam, that your husband would welcome a call from you."

"You have his address?"

"Yes—his address," he repeated. "Precisely! I have it here—Number Eleven, Jackson Street."

"Mayfair?" I inquired.

"Mayfair," he assented. "The address reminds me, madam," he went on, "that you must be prepared to see your husband—er—not in the best of health. He is, in fact, in a nursing home."

"Is he seriously ill?" I asked.

"I believe not," was the deliberate reply. "You will have an opportunity of judging for yourself within half an hour. I am to ask you to visit him as soon as you can find it convenient."

I sat quite still. I was trying to get these matters into my mind. The lawyer glanced at his watch and immediately struck the bell in front of him.

"You will forgive me, madam," he said, rising to his feet. "I have a meeting of the Law Society to attend. My compliments to your husband. Tell him to let me know if I can be of further service to him."

• • •

THE boy was holding open the door. The lawyer, with a courteous old-fashioned bow, evidently considered the interview at an end. I went back to my taxicab, a little bewildered, and drove at once to Jackson Street. A nurse in starched linen frock and flowing cap consulted a little slate and led me to a bedroom in one of the upper stories.

"Mr. Peters is getting on famously, madam," she announced encouragingly. "The doctor hopes to be able to let him out at the end of the week. Please step in. You can stay as long as you like. . . . Your wife is here, Mr. Peters," she went on, ushering me through the doorway.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

Copyright 1922 by Associated Newspapers

That was the baby squirrel's introduction to the birds and beasts of Tommy Peele's woods and fields—yes, and to the frogs and the minnies and the mud-turtles—a tumble into Chips Beaver's famous pond! And they were all there to see him.

That is, I don't mean it was what they came for. Because they were mighty surprised to find out about him. They came to hear the ducks put his mother, the Widow Squirrel, out of their nesting-oak. And right in the middle of a gorgeous quarrel, out pops the naughty baby and begins his performing!

No, he hadn't practiced up for the occasion; it was only his third trip out into the world. And he surprised himself just as much as he did them. Water? He didn't know there was any such thing! Cause he'd never even peeked over the edge of a limb. You know his mammy wouldn't let him go out except at night for fear Daddy Greencrest would come back to look over his old nest and would see him. But he just knew how well he could climb if he had the chance in the daytime. So he tried to show off. And you know what happened!

Splash! There he was pawing and strangling. Ugh, that water was cold! Next thing he knew he was dangling in the wind by the scruff of his little neck. Colder still! And his poor little fur collar was all screwed up so tight it choked him. But he couldn't squall; he was too busy sputtering. Then the water dripped out of his eyes and he saw everyone was staring at him. And laughing! My how those birds did squawk! For he was just about the funniest looking thing you ever saw, with his feet still climbing on the empty air while Chips Beaver carried him ashore. So he just—laughed too!

That's what he did. He giggled as heartily as any squirrel could whose shiny little front teeth were chattering with something besides squirrel conversation. And the woodsfolk laughed again. But they weren't laughing at him—they were laughing with him.

"Th-th-thay, wa-wa-wathn't that a f-funny woy to climb?" he asked as Chips sat him down.

"Climb?" chuckled the beaver. "I thought you were swimming."

"Or flying?" put in the mother duck, between quacks. "Qua-ha-ha, you're a brave little claw-foot. I like you—Hawk take me if I don't. Move over, Chips and let me tend to him." And she began to blanket him with her warm wings and squeeze the water out of his coat with her clever beak. You just ought to have seen the way he smuggled up to her.

SCHOOL BUILDING FINAL CONTRACTS

Ordered Paid by the Council on Report by Committee of Completion of Work

A meeting of the city council was held Monday night which was attended by the mayor and all of the members for the purpose, as specified in the call, of hearing the reports of special committees the report of the building committee on all contracts on the school building received bids for moving the West Paris fire station back one block west, and to receive bids for repairing the roof of the municipal building and the fire station.

The bid of George Stillwell to remove the fire station building in West Paris one block west was accepted, he to do the work for $170. There was only one other bid, which was made by S. F. Long. His bid was $200. The corner of the lot on which the station is located was traded to the school board in order to make the West Paris school grounds larger and more symetrical.

Clark Caviness appeared before the council in regard to defraying the expense of removing the telephone poles on the Caviness line to Paris, which were disturbed by the construction of the new Caviness road. Back water in the upper stretches of the lake, it was stated, would submerge the line. Mr. Caviness wanted the city to defray a part of the expense of putting in new poles across the lake.

The matter was discussed at some length, but no action was taken.

The question of the city paying for the long distance telephoning by the city marshal with outside officers was called up by Assistant Chief Rodgers at his request and it was suggested that where the telephoning was done in an effort to enforce the law the city should pay, but where it was on account of the owner of a stolen automobile trying to locate it or some thing of a similar nature the owner of the property that he is seeking to recover should pay the telephone charges.

Mayor Deweese suggested that the matter be left to him and the marshal to check up at the end of each month the calls for which the city should pay. The suggestion was adopted.

Edwin Smith of the firm of Barry & Smith, who furnished the plans for the West Paris school building, appeared before the council and requested that the firm be allowed something extra on the commissions they received for the changes they made at the city's request after the plans had been accepted. No action was taken.

The architects of the four buildings reported that all of the contracts for painting, heating, lighting and wiring had been completed and that the work was done satisfactorily.

Mr. Lightfoot stated, however, that Mr. Gross, the contractor for the heating, had not put in suite as much radiation as the contract called for, as he claimed that it would have excessive heating. Mr. Lightfoot further stated in response to a question that he thought the radiations was sufficient.

Mr. Gross, the contratcor, stated that he had to take the radiators up two or three times after they had been put in order to put the blackboards and other things in.

He was borne out in the statement by the mayor, who said there was a pressure to have the building completed and the radiators were put in before the work was ready for them to be put in.

A motion was made to accept the report of the building committee on the contracts for painting, wiring, plumbing, and heating, and that they all be ordered paid.

In regard to advertising for bids and awarding a contract for repairing the roof of the municipal building which sprang several leaks during the recent heavy rains and windstorm, Aldermen Harrison and Breneman were appointed as a committee to look after it with power to act.

MASONIC SUPPER THURSDAY NIGHT

Work in the Master's Degree is to Be Followed With a Get-Together Meeting

An earnest invitation as well as request is extended all Masons of Paris and Lamar county to be present Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock for work in the third degree which is to be followed by a plenteous supper fittingly prepared by that renowned chef, J. William (Bill) Harris. The request reads that every Mason bring someone with him; and if unable to attend that he send three other brethren to account for his abscence.

The event has been planned with the intent that there might be revived a desire for work as well as to renew the bonds of brotherly friendship.

The supper will in all probability be served about 9 o'clock and merit alone will account for the size of the plate a worker will receive. However, a kindly spirit will prevail and none will be allowed to go away hungry.

The day is Thursday, April 29, the hour is 6:30, the place is the Masonic temple.

Church of Christ Services.

The regular Wednesday evening prayer service of Lamar Avenue Church of Christ will be held at 7:30 this evening.

Bible Class Meeting.

The Bible class of Lamar Avenue church of Christ met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Turner. The attendance was good and an excellent lesson was had on the subject of prayer. Different members made interesting talks on the subject.

Central Presbyterian Society.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Central Presbyterian church held their annual business meeting at the church Monday afternoon at which time several business matters were disposed of. The following officers for the year were elected. Mrs. Claude Reed, president; Mrs. Will Clark, vice president; Mrs. J. L. Shanklin, secretary, and Mrs. C. H. Thompson treasurer.

Central Presbyterian Church Night.

The church night services at Central Presbyterian church opened Wednesday evening with supper at 6:30, prayer and table talk at 7:15, after which the regular church service was held.

A splendid sermon was delivered by Rev. John H. Burma, who is conducting the services at this church throughout hte week.

West Paris Revival to Open.

The revival meeting at the West Paris Baptist church will begin this evening at 7:30.

The services will be conducted by Rev. F. M. McConnell of Greenville, who is a great revival preacher—and much good is being looked forward to in the course of these meetings.

The song service will be under direction of the evangelistic singer, W. W. White. Much stress will be placed on congregational singing.

Christ the World's Great Example.

The above is the title of another splendid sermon delivered by the evangelist, J. T. Ogle, at the First Christian revival on Monday night. First John 2:6 was taken for the text. Rev. Ogle said there are two ways of teaching. One is by precept, the other by example. The example method is better for the following reasons: (1) It is more easily understood. (2) It has more power and influence. (3) It utilizes desire to imitate, and (4) it reveals the philosophy of Christ's life.

Christ by example taught us that we should obey our parents. At or about the age of twelve, every child should be about God business, that we should be baptized, should meet temptations as He did, should be good citizens—rendering to Caesar and God the things that belong to them, and that we should forgive one anther as He forgave us. Christianity is the natural, normal life. It is to humanity what sunlight is to vegetation.

The audience last night was a good one indeed for a rainy night and to the delight of the evangelist was composed almost entirely of those who were members of the church when he ministered here years ago.

A beautiful solo entitled "Alone" was impressively rendered by County Attorney John F. Sturgeon. Brother Ogle said, after listening to it, that he felt like pronouncing the benediction and permitting the audience to return to their homes with the sentiment of that song uppermost in their minds.

Lectures and Travalogs.

The prosperity and travalog lectures which are being given this week by Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Robinson are highly entertaining, educational an dinspiring. They are both world travelers and their lectures are enriched by personal experiences. Judging from the favorable comments of many these lectures are about the richest things we have had in our city in a long time.

Dr. Robinson spoke last night on "The Law's Reflex." Among other things, he said that God has never relinquished His ownership o fthe material universe and He always collects that which belongs to him in one way or another. In the course of his remarks, the speaker said the worst thing that can happen to a nation or to an individual is to have God fade out of vision. The tenant who pays the landlord his part with regularity never forgets him, and the man who rendereds upto God the things that are God's has a similar experience. He went on to show the intellectual reflex in the peace and satisfaction that came to the man who dealt honestly with God, keeping accurate accounts with God helps a man to keep his business affairs in proper shape and many a man has been saved from bankruptcy who detected the leakage in his business in ascertaining his standing with God. Paying to God that which is due saves a man from selfishness and enlarges his own soul. The reflex manifests itself beneficially in every phase of life and those who were present last night are firmly convinced that man's best interests are not apart from God. Tonight Dr. Robinson will speak on "The Law and Opportunity."

Mrs. Robinson delivered a wonderfully illuminating lecture on "New Zealand, the Home of Democracy." The only objection to this lecture is that some of the good people who heard about this wonderful land of opportunity—with its equal rights for all and its special favors to none—will want to migrate there. The lecture was illustrated with a moving picture of the journey from San Francisco to the Hawaiian Islands. Mrs. Robinson will lecture tonight on "Scotland and the Scotch." These lectures are free to the public and you are cordially invited to hear them.

Rev. Mr. Veteto's Farewell Serman

II Corinthians 5:17—Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are pasosd away; behold, all things are become new.

"Our Relations to Christ" was the subject of the farewell sermon Sunday morning by Rev. A. B. Veteto at the West Paris Baptist church.

Christ is the way (the only way) by which sinners may be saved. In the days gone by it seemed easier for people to accept Christ than today. Now, we have so many false teachings, modern ways offered for people to be saved that it is confusing to the sinner and he thinks it is so hard that he doesn't even try to find out the way.

The one important question of life is the question of the salvation of the soul. It can never be settled until it is settled right. Then, how do we get into Christ? We agree that it is not a question of works. The Bible teaches us that salvation is by grace through faith and a sinner gets into Christ by faith. Not by a decision, baptism or giving the precaher your hand but by perentance toward God and faith in Jesus Christ, our Lord. Christ is the life—in Him is life teaches that the gift of God is outside of Christ as being dead and in sin. A sinner may be baptized or give his hand to the preacher until he is old but that will not mean life. Even being a Sunday school teacher or living a clean life is not life. We cannot get life from that in which there is no life, hence the saying of Paul "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature." Reformation is no way to make a new creature. Christ teaches thate the gift of God is eternal life through Christ. God has never given preachers or churches or anyone the power to save sinners but in the salvation of every soul. His name is glorified.

The sinner is a dead man, a lost man dead in sin, yet he does not realize his condition. All sinners realize that they sin but they do not realize that they are lost. That is where the Holy Spirit does His work—convincing him of sin and the fact that he does not know God, whom to know aright is life everlasting.

Our fellowship with Christ is sweet, it comforts us in hours of trouble and distress. It is a comfort to know that we are brothers of Christ, heirs of God and joint heirs with Jesus Christ because of our relation to Christ. This relation is brought about by the free gift of God—the work of the Holy Spirit—just faith on our part. In Him we find peace, the peace that passeth understanding. Therefore, that darkness will be out of your life."

All your sins and iniquities will be remembered no more. We may not forget, but God in Heaven says, He will forget.

Reasons why we should be Christians: If there were no other reason, that the individual can stand here in peace with God, looking back over the past life and realize that all the mistakes and follies of life have been blotted out—this is what no philosophy or human reason can ever do.

We want to be saved now in this very life, and in the struggle of the morrow the individual who is saved from sin and actually a Christian, who has surrendered to Jesus Christ is saved from all the uncleanliness and the sins that sapped the vitality of his life. But unless the individual quits sinning, he is not forgiven, he cannot be forgiven so long as he indulges in that sin.

If we felt that Jesus of Nazareth was going to pass along the street and we should climb out on the ledge of an upper story where we could have an unobstructed vision of Him—and as he passed if he should look up and say, "Make haste and come down. I am going home with you" would you be embarrassed if the Son of God should say, "I am going home with you today." Our homes should be in such condition that we should feel not embarrassed if Jesus of Nazareth should come into them.

The power of Jesus Christ is a transforming power in the lives of men.

If we accept the religion of Jesus Christ we are saved from the sin, iniquity, selfishness, and all that is degrading in our lives. There is no peace save that by the teachin

If you are a constipation victim you need Bran that is ALL BRAN

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is so delicious and inviting that thousands of families use it constantly to make enticing bakery balances, such as bran muffins, pancakes, raisin bread, etc.; they eat it as a cereal, and many sprinkle it on their favorite cereal, its nut-like flavor having a fine appeal.

Many more thousands of people eat Kellogg's Bran every day of their lives because it has permanently relieved them of constipation and the dangers of dreaded diseases that constipation leads to. If you are suffering with constipation you need ALL BRAN—Kellogg's Bran—with its permanent corrective qualities. Foods that are part bran can never give the desired relief because they do not contain sufficient of the elements that Kellogg's Bran naturally contains.

Kellogg's Bran, delicious in its patented cooked and krumbled form, becomes an immediate necessity. If it is eaten regularly (two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases with each meal)—it will relieve constipation permanently! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran. It will free you from proprietary pills and catharties which are as system-racking and almost as dangerous to health as constipation itself!

Serve Kellogg's Bran regularly. Watch the health of your entire family improve. It is wonderful for children. Kellogg recipes are printed on each package. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

RECOVERY IN THE PRICE OF COTTON

A Number of Reasons Why the Traders Thought it Was Worth More

NEW YORK, March 27.—A recovery of approximately $3.50 per bale today followed yesterday sharp break in the cotton market. Offerings were decidedly lighter after the heavy liquidation of the past three or four days and prices advanced to 28.26 for July contracts on covering and trade buying, accompanied by continued complaints of delayed farm work, bullish advices from the Southern spot market and more encouraging reports from Liverpool. Last prices were within 10 or 15 points of the best with the market steady at net advances of 50 to 77 points.

Galveston Receipts

GALVESTON, March 27.—Cotton receipts of the port of Galveston passed the two and a quarter million bale mark for the 1922-23 season on March 23, according to figures made public by F. D. Storey, secretary of the Galveston Cotton Exchange and Board of Trade today. Receipts to March 23 were 2,252,753, an increase of 190,308 bales over last season to the same date.

Galveston Exports

GALVESTON, March 27.—Exports during the week ending March 23 were 22,470 bales; previous week 41,417; same week last year 36,684.

Exports for the season to March 23 were 2,124,565 bales, an increase of 126,929.

Domestic Mills Buying
(Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, March 27.—Less apprehension over the Federal Reserve meeting at Washington and reports from the Eastern belt that the domestic mills were again buying spots created new high levels in cotton this afternoon. At 1:30 the active months were 86 to 92 points up with May at 28.57 and October 24.70.

Raw Sugar Steady
(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 27.—The raw sugar market was steady with Cubas quoted at 5 1-2 cents, cost and freight, equal to 7.28 for centrifugal with sales at 5500 bags of prompt shipment to an operator at that level. No change in the refined market.

Wheat is Higher
(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 27.—Indications of delay in spring wheat seeding led to a further upturn in the prices. The close was firm 7-8 to 1 1-4 cents net higher, with May at 1.19 1-2 to 1.19 5-8 and July 1.15 3-4 to 1.15 7-8.

Corn is Firm
(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 27.—Better shipping demand here and talk of a late spring gave the corn market an additional upturn. The close was firm 5-8 1 1-2 net higher with May at 74 1-4 to 74 3-8.

JUDGE ESTES APPROVES COMPOSITION OF CREDITORS

The composition of creditors that was recently offered by the Carter-Anderson Company and accepted by the majority of the creditors was contested by some of them. Judge Chas. Batsell, the referee referred it to Judge Wm. L. Estes, recommending its approval. The matter was presented to Judge Estes last Saturday at Texarkana and was taken under advisement. He telephoned the attorneys here on Tuesday that he had approved the composition.

MANY people deny themselves the comfort of a hot drink with meals, because they find coffee and tea detrimental to health. For many, the drug element in coffee and tea irritates the nerves, retards digestion and often prevents natural, restful sleep.

If this fits your case, try Postum. This pure cereal beverage supplies all the pleasure and satisfaction that a hot mealtime drink can give—invigorating warmth, fine aroma and delicious flavor. And you can enjoy it in the full assurance that it cannot harm health.

WHAT IS IT WORTH To Keep Baby's Milk Sweet?

No price is too high to pay—no care too great to take. To your refrigerator is entrusted this vital duty. Is it not, then, imperative to know, in advance, just how well it can perform its task?

Before you buy, find out just what the insulation of the refrigerator is. For upon this feature largely depends its efficiency—its ability to keep food perfectly in scorching mid-summer weather—its economy in the use of ice.

Alaska Refrigerators have seven insulating walls. The main insulating material is cubed cork, widely accepted as the most effective refrigerating material in use today. Its presence in an Alaska is guarantee that your food will keep in perfect condition in hottest weather, with an unusually small consumption of ice.

The Alaska's perfected circulation, too, surrounds food with the chill, dry air so essential to perfect keeping.

Alaska Refrigerators have many other important features—the development of 45 years of refrigerator building: sanitary, seamless porcelain or white enamel linings; tight-fitting doors; patented, cold-conserving drain trap; durable shelves and ice rack. They are unusually well built, with enduring finish; yet cost no more than ordinary refrigerators. Dealers can show you styles to meet any requirement. Don't accept a substitute; look for the Alaska name. Write for pamphlet, "What to Look for in a Refrigerator."

On Monday evening the American Legion and its entertainers gave its eighteenth perfromance among the communities of Lamar county, visiting Milton, where over 400 people were present, besides 50 Paris people. This brings the total since the beginning of this series to over 13,000 Lamar county people played to.

Some of the features of the program were clever readings by little Miss Martha Minton, quartet numbers by the DeMolay Four—Aaron Sturgeon, Brooks, Osburn and Pender; a baritone selection by Mr. Hyatt, and an excellent talk by Mr. West, a legal acquisitoin to the Legion's troupe, who spoke on the American citizen's responsibility to his children.

of Jesus who came out from Nazareth bringing peace in the individual life and in the home and in the whole nation.

Talk about peace conferences and the Hague, international peace, all can be brought about by the teaching according to the message left the disciples, which will give us peace here—heaven and home at last.

Like children returning tired from a May Day party—we will turn to that Great Teacher, and say, "Teacher I am tired and want to go home," it is simply going home to the child of the Living God—to peace at last.

First Baptist Circle Five

Circle Five of the First Baptist Ladies' Auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Cameron, with nine present. Mrs. L. A. Albright gave the devotional service from Rom. 12, and Mrs. Carlton offered a prayer.

She also led the lesson from the W. M. U. manual which was instructive and ably directed.

The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Aulgur.

Bonham Street Methodist Revival

The attendance was very small at the service last night on account of the inclement weather, but the weather put no damper on the interesting and helpful sermon delivered by Bro. Egger. He read as the scripture parts of the 21st chapter of John.

The humanness of this passage appeals to us—the disciples were going fishing, doubtless expecting their labors to be crowned with success, but their nets remained empty. Jesus was standing on the shore, but they knew Him not. Seeing their disappointment He asked them 'Children, have ye any meat?"

He tells them to cast their nets on the right side and it was the miraculous power of Jesus Christ that they were able to draw the net full of fishes. Then John recognized who it was who had given them that blessing. If you've gotten something that's really worth while, thank God for His gift.

Did you ever go through a long night that seemed would never end, and finally in the morning daylight comes and Jesus is with you—you forget the long night? Jesus is always standing on the shore.

Jesus prepared with His own hands the breakfast for the disciples—prepared it with the hands which had been nailed to the cross only a short while before. After they had dined, Jesus says "Simon, Son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these?" It is all right to love stocks and bonds and houses and things but it is better to love folks. Think about values that are immortal, not values that rise and fall with the fluctuations of the market. Jesus asks again the question "Simon, are you sure that you love me?"

"Yea, Lord."

Then Jesus said "Feed my lambs." The most practical thing in the world, for if we love Jesus we wish to share His passion in the redemption of the world. If we do not know Him in the fleloweship of His suffering, then it is certain we shall not know Him in His resurrection glory.

Jesus asks for the third time "Lovest thou me?" Sometimes he probes our hearts deeply, making us see ourselves as He wants us to.

The greatest need that can come to our hearts is just the same process that Jesus used to make Simon see his mistakes. Do we love him? Remember that love expresses itself best in service.

Quick Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

The Only Oats

That cook in five minutes

Now Quaker Oats hold supreme place, the world over, in two important ways.

They are the finest-flavored oats in existence. They are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get but ten pounds of such flakes from a bushel.

For many a year, oat lovers the world over have sent for Quaker Oats because of that matchless flavor. Those who know it will not go without it.

Now a Quick Style

Now that same flavor, that same quality, come in a Quick style.

Quick Quaker Oats cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and it cooks to perfection. It is by far the quickest-cooking oats in the world.

In the Quick style the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Get Quaker Oats always, in fairness to yourself. This is the food of foods—the greatest food that grows. You want the dish delightful.

But tell your grocer which style you want, the Quick or the regular. He has both, and the price is the same for either.

Regular Quaker Oats
Come in package at left—the style you have always known.

Quick* Quaker Oats
Come in package at right, with the "Quick" label.

Your grocer has both. Be sure to get the style you want.

GARTLAND RETURNS VISIT TO MEXICO

Says Some of the Relics in the Museum Go Further Back Than Tut's Time

J. A. Gartland of Paris, grand high priest of the Masonic order in Texas, has returned from a trip to the City of Mexico, where he went to organize a chapter. He was accompanied on the trip by J. D. Avis of Wichita Falls, a member of the legislature, who is grand master of the grand council of Royal and Select Masons. The latter went to organize a council.

Mr. Gartland stated that they were met by a delegation of the Masonic fraternity at the station on their arrival and were royally entertained all of the time they were there. They were guests of the American club while in the city.

He declared that Mexico City was a great city and that there were many things on a magnificent scale. Americans go to Europe and the old country, he said, to see ancient relics, when in the national museum in Mexico City things are to be seen many centuries older than the most ancient relics in Europe.

He said that King Tut wasn't yet born when some of the things to be seen in the museums in Mexico were first in existence.

THE PARIS CONTINGENT TO CONFEDERATE REUNION

T. J. Vansant, commander of the Albert Sidney Johnston camp, states that there will be a party of about twenty who will go from here to the national Confederate reunion at New Orleans, which will be held next month. There will be ten or twelve old soldiers in the party, he said, and the rest of them will be made up of the sponsors and maid of honor, Sons of Confederate Veterans and probably a few others.

He stated that he understood the members from the Roxton camp would come up to join the Paris contingent to the reunion. In that event the number will be in excess of the estimated number who will go.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples are Impurities Seeking An Outlet Through Skin Pores

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons, and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which hould sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best mean of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia water drink, which usually helps make pimples disappear.

LAST SURVIVOR STONEWALL ARMY

Who Has Three Children Living in Paris Died at Confederate Home

B. P. Stephens, a Confederate veteran formerly of Bonham, who was said to have been the last survivor of Stonewall Jackson's brigade, died last week in the Confederate home at Austin in the 81st year of his age. He was born in Wytheville, Va., and enlisted in the Fourth Virginia regiment at the age of 19, and was assigned to Stonewall Jackson's old brigade.

He went through the war without receiving a wound, but he was held a prisoner a long time. After the war he returned to his old home, went from there to Bristol, Tenn., where he engaged in contracting and building and married Miss Matilda Repass. He moved from Bristol to Bonham in 1872 and from there to Denison. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and had belonged to the Masonic order for over forty years.

His wife died ten years ago, but he is survived by several children of whom three, Mrs. John L. Owens, Mrs. J. M. Gibson and Samuel O. Stevens reside in Paris. The other children are A. R. Stevens, J. R. Stevens, E. L. Stevens and W. E. Stevens of Denison, and W. D. Stevens of Los Angeles. Two sisters and a brother reside at Bonham.

Mrs. Mittie Lenoir.

Mrs. Mittie Lenoir, who was 76 years old and was the widow of J. Y. Lenoir, a well known resident of Lamar county, died at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. O. Clarkson, ten miles northeast of Paris in the Faught community. She had influenza several weeks ago and had been in failing health since then.

She came to Lamar county with her husband from Mississippi about fifty-five years ago and they settled north of Faught, between that place and Springhill, where she spent the rest of her life until her husband's death three years ago. She then went to live with her daughter, Mrs. F. O. Clarkson at Faught. Besides her daughter she is survived by three sons, Dr. J. M. Lenoir of Paris, Murry Lenoir of Faught and Joe Lenoir of Idabel, Ok. She also leaves a brother and a sister, W. T. Wheeler and Mrs. Eliza Thompson, both of whom reside at Faught, the sister making her home with her brother's family.

The funeral was held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Springhill cemetery, the service being conducted by Rev. Mr. Bryan, the Baptist county missionary. She had been a member of the Baptist church a long time.

Funeral of T. C. Faught

The funeral service for Thos. C. Faught, who died Monday evening, will be held at the family residence, corner of Twenty-first and Pine Bluff streets, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and will be conducted by Rev. W. M. Wright assisted by Rev. P. R. Knickerbocker. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. J. B. Redus

Grandma Redus, the widow of J. B. Redus, who was one of the old residents and well known citizens of Delta county, died last Saturday at Enloe, and the funeral service was held on Sunday. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joe Kerbow of Cooper and Mrs. Lacey Holt of Enloe. She was making her home with the latter daughter.

J. J. Nunnally

J. J. Nunnally, a Fannin county farmer, who lived at Dial, near the Lamar county line, died at 10:30 o'clock Monday night at a sanitarium in Paris, where he had been a patient a few days. He was 53 years old and is survived by a wife and one child. The remains were taken on the train to Honey Grove Tuesday afternoon, and from there to Dial for burial.

REV. FINCHER HAD A CONGREGATION

Presbyterian Missionary Was a Visitor to Chicota and Delivered Two Sermons

CHICOTA, March 27.—Rev. Fincher, Presbyterian missionary for this district, met with the Chicota school Friday in chapel and delivered an inspirational address on the five points of the star of life. He remained in the community and preached at the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock and again at 3.

The night service was held at the school building. Quite a large crowd was present to hear Mr. Fincher deliver a fine sermon on Christ's answer to his accusers. Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's. Rev. Fincher has tact of teaching to little children his sermons in such a manner as to keep their interest throughout his sermon. We are hoping for him to be with us again soon.

On last Saturday night while Dean Carpenter was going toward Chicota in his car he collided with a car driven by Harvey Caviness. Two or three occupants of the cars were injured by the broken windshields. The Caviness car is almost a total wreck. The speed of the big car driven by Mr. Carpenter kept it from being so badly damaged. A dim light on the big car which kept the driver from seeing the side of the road was partly the cause of the wreck.

It was a tough situation. My cousin in Columbus wrote me about having taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and advised me to try it. I am now feeling better than for fifteen years." It is a simple, and harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis.
